EXAMINER'S STATEMENT OF REASON FOR ALLOWANCE

Response to Arguments

 Applicant's arguments, see Applicant's Remarks, filed 2/27/2006, with respect to McLean (US Patent No.: 6486769) in view of Flammer, III et al (US Patent No.: 5471469) have been fully considered and are persuasive. The 35 USC 103 of claims 3-11,14-18,21,22,24 have been withdrawn.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Related Conventional Inventions:

One conventional form of changing the carrier frequency when hopping is changing the carrier frequency based on a predetermined sequence. Flammer III et al disclose a communication system, wherein a change of frequency or a hop occurs "according to the band plan at specified intervals and the channel hopping band plan of each receiver notice is known to all nodes in the network". (Col. 3, lines 1-4 and Col. 2, line 67) Flammer III et al discloses a poll packet system along with frequency hopping, wherein the source node "transmits a poll packet that polls the target node to determine whether the target node is able and willing to accept a specified number of data packets." The poll packet system monitors acknowledgements of whether transmission has been completed. (Col. 3, lines 1-

10) Such a method of frequency hopping is different from the applicant's claimed invention.

Applicant's Invention:

The applicant's discloses an invention in a RFID system using frequency hopping as a method for regulating transmission of a signal to different remote transponders, wherein a change of frequency is forced or suddenly changed based on the availability time of the carrier frequency and estimated transmission time for performing the current transmission. (Abstract) The applicant discloses a system comprising a transmitter, receiver, and a processor, wherein the processor determines an estimate of the amount of time necessary for transmission of a signal, determines the time available of a first carrier frequency, when the amount of time necessary for performing the transmission of a signal is greater than the amount of available time on a first carrier frequency is detected, the processor will force a hop or change the first carrier frequency to a second carrier frequency.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
